

ANTI-CORRUPTION COMMISSION

THE FIGHT AGAINST CORRUPTION IN ZAMBIA

3RD QUARTER PRESS BRIEFING

2022

30th November 2022

Directors, Anti-Corruption Commission

Members of the Press,

Ladies and Gentlemen,

May I begin by welcoming you all to this media briefing on the Commission's activities conducted in the third quarter of 2022.

The Commission continued to execute its mandate of educating the public on the ills of corruption, putting in place corruption prevention mechanisms, investigating and prosecuting suspected cases of corruption.

The Commission is determined to win the fight against corruption. It will do everything possible within its powers to vigorously pursue any reported case of corruption regardless of when the suspected offence may have happened. This means that the Commission will investigate all suspected cases of corruption, past, present or indeed future cases. For as long as a case has been reported or detected and there are elements of corruption, the Commission will act.

The Commission is more determined now than ever before and is encouraged with the positive sentiments from members of the public on the current anti-corruption fight. The eyes of the Commission are watching and more alert on what is happening and ready to pounce on perpetrators of corrupt practices. I, therefore, wish to encourage members of the public to continue reporting any suspected cases of corruption without hesitation.

In order that the public report suspected cases of corruption with adequate information, the Commission will continue to carry out public sensitization activities across the country and make reporting of corruption easy. In this regard, the Commission has increased the number of telephone lines that access the Toll-Free number from one line on each mobile network to three lines giving the total access lines to nine (9) lines from (3) three lines. Dedicated officers to manage the calls have also been deployed. It is anticipated that this measure will address the challenges members of the public have been facing regarding accessing the Commission through telephone services.

The Commission will also continue being proactive in putting in place anti-corruption prevention mechanisms. In this regard, the Commission will be sitting on various procurement and recruitment committees to ensure integrity of processes and procedure by making sure that the correct procedures are followed and only deserving entities are engaged. I wish to take this opportunity to warn civil servants who are bent on colluding and taking bribes to desist from these corrupt practices as the Commission will not hesitate to arrest and prosecute anyone found wanting.

Auditor General's Report

As you are aware the Commission has a Memorandum of Understanding with the Office of the Auditor General which facilitates information sharing. In the recent Auditor General's Report for the year ending 2021, the Commission has taken keen interest in a number of issues raised and it is currently studying the report to determine the course of action on the cases that fall within the Commission's mandate.

Operations of the Commission in the Third Quarter of 2022

Ladies and gentlemen,

Allow me to now give you an update on some of the activities that the Commission undertook in quarter three (3) of this year.

Public Education

In the quarter under review, the Commission reached more than 151,433 people countrywide through various sensitization programmes which included: lectures and talks; exhibitions and agriculture shows; and radio programs.

Some of the specific activities included the following:

- i. Anti-corruption sensitisation on the implementation of Farmer Input Support Programme (FISP) in Southern, Western, Northern and Central Provinces in partnership with the Ministry of Agriculture.
- ii. Commemoration of the African Anti-Corruption Day which falls on the 11th July annually during which exhibitions were conducted.
- iii. Training of Public Education Officers from the Commission on incorporation of anti-corruption content in the tertiary curriculum and conducting gap analysis with the Curriculum Development Centre (CDC) in four subjects namely; social studies, civic education, religious education and adult literacy.

Corruption Prevention

During the quarter, the Commission launch a Crusade against Road Traffic Corruption dubbed 'No Bribes But Fines Campaign' as one of the means of addressing traffic corruption in our country. Various activities that include radio and television programmes continue to be undertaken as well as distribution of information leaflets to members of the public on the dangers of traffic corruption and the fines charter. The Commission is hopeful that this campaign will raise the bar of integrity among motorists and road traffic law enforcement officers and move them from paying or receiving bribes to rejecting bribes and paying fines instead.

In addition, the first ever Private Sector Symposium was held with over 180 participants in attendance. This meeting was an avenue for bringing on board the private sector in the fight against corruption

During the quarter, nineteen (19) cases were before the courts of law, three (3) cases were pending judgement, eight (8) cases were appealed while four (4) convictions were also secured.

The summary statistics for the year so far shows that the total number of arrests effected has reached 71 with 8 convictions secured. In addition, the total number of investigated cases concluded is 284 while over five million people have been reached through various sensitization activities.

Conclusion

I wish to reiterate Governments position of 'Zero Tolerance' to corruption. The Commission will only fulfil its mandate in partnership with the Zambian people. It is therefore incumbent on all citizens to abhor corruption and to report the same to the Commission as this is the only way that the vice will be effectively fought.

The Anti-Corruption Commission is equal to the task and it will not fail to deliver on its mandate. Let me, therefore send a timely warning to all public officials presently in government and quasi government agencies that abusing public coffers will cause them to pay a high price.

Corruption is evil and all well-meaning Zambians should abhor it.

I thank you.
